Public Transport Network of Greater Nuremberg

The Franconian metropolis of Nuremberg lies at the center of the VGN, the second largest public transport association in Germany. A dense network of rails and buses gives access to 16 rural districts and 8 municipalities in Franconia and the Upper Palatinate. You can travel throughout the entire transport system with a single ticket.

Discover the two neighboring cities of Nuremberg and Fürth by using the subway (U-Bahn), tram, rapid transit (S-Bahn) and regional train. The numerous sights and recreational facilities can be reached until late at night by public transport. Information can be found on the Smartphone App "VGN Timetable & Tickets", incl. timetables, network plans with the option of purchasing single tickets and day tickets. It is available for Android, iOS and Windows phones.

Tickets can be purchased at vending machines, from bus drivers, at many sales points, in the VAG customer service center as well as the DB rail travel center. Cell phone tickets can be purchased after a one-time registration under shop.vgn.de. In the online shop other tickets can also be bought, for example, self-print day tickets.

More information on travel in Nuremberg and throughout the entire transport network can be found under www.vgn.de/service. Anyone interested in excursions to other attractions in the Metropolitan Region of Nuremberg will find what they are looking for under www.vgn.de/freizeit.

Arrival

... by car or by bus

Nuremberg and Fürth are conveniently situated at the junction of important federal autobahns. The autobahns A3 Frankfurt-Passau-Vienna and A9 Munich-Berlin intersect in southeast Nuremberg. Both autobahns feed in slightly further south to the A6 Stuttgart-Prague. In the south the A73 also branches off from the A9 near Feucht, leading north through Fürth and Erlangen over the A3 to Bamberg and past Suhl as far as to Erfurt. Moreover, 4 major federal highways lead through the metropolitan area of Nuremberg in all directions.

... by train

The DB main train station in Nuremberg is linked to national and international railway networks by approximately ten IC (Intercity) and ICE (Intercity Express) trains traveling at regular hourly intervals. Fürth can be reached in just a few minutes by subway (U-Bahn), but also by rapid transit (S-Bahn) and regional trains.

Mobility

in the Nuremberg Metropolitan Region

Having arrived in the metropolitan area the sophisticated local transport network of subway (U-Bahn), trams, buses, rapid transit (S-Bahn) and regional trains will guarantee you reach your destination very quickly! Fast and uncomplicated answers to all transport and tourist questions can be found at the Information Centers in Nuremberg: in the main train station, the airport, the Public transport (VAG), in the Tourist Information Offices. www.nuernbergmobil.de

Nuremberg International Airport Albrecht Dürer

Gateway to Northern Bavaria

Close proximity to the city, short stretches to the terminal and the parking garages as well as individual service offers characterize the international Albrecht Dürer Airport Nuremberg.

The subway provides quick connections to the city center—only 12 minutes to the main train station and 25 minutes to the exhibition center.

With 3.5 million passengers (2016), ca. 60 non-stop connections and over 30 connecting flights to nine European hubs with a wide range of worldwide hub-connections, the Nuremberg Airport ranks in the Top 10 of the commercial airports in Germany.

Reputable airlines from the three largest passenger alliances (Star Alliance, Skyteam, Oneworld) offer good off-peak hours connections from the most important European metropolises. For price-sensitive travelers Vueling, Ryanair, Eurowings and Wizz Air offer interesting flight options.

New impulses for tourism in Franconia have also been created by these low-cost airlines and attracted more visitors from other European countries.

Northern Bavaria's largest travel market, diverse gastronomy and shopping opportunities, a conference center as well as a free visitors' terrace provide a totally relaxed airport experience.

Comprehensive information on flights, events and parties as well as a view of the airfield apron can be found via the live webcam under

NUREMBERG Insurance

Founded in 1884, the NÜRNBERGER belongs today to the premier league of German insurers. Owing to its independence it can carry out its own business policies oriented towards a long-term increase in value. It thus has the ability to act rapidly and flexibly in the market and position itself such that it can offer each of its clients the best possible solution.

The NÜRNBERGER is committed to the European Metropolitan Region Nuremberg, especially to the city that gave it its name. Through its wide range of sponsoring activities the company supports numerous institutions and events. Albrecht Dürer, Christoph Willibald Gluck and Jean Paul, the great sons of the region, confer upon their homeland an artistic, a musical and literary identity, respectively. This is why the NÜRNBERGER is actively engaged in the Germanisches Nationalmuseum, the International Gluck Opera Festivals and the Jean Paul hiking trail.

Moreover, we have been active for over 30 years in equestrian sports, including the NÜRNBERGER CASTLE CUP. With the NÜRNBERGER Versicherungscup the company brought a WTA Women's Tennis Tournament to the region.

1 Nuremberg Zoo – Family friendly

Families can spend a wonderful day at the zoo. Children can look at meerkats face-to-face, tropical butterflies hover around the little visitors, and gorillas, giraffes and cheetahs quietly allow themselves to be observed. In the Jako-o Children's Zoo the youngsters can pet sheep and goats and explore a farm with rare indigenous domestic animal breeds. If the signboards on the enclosures do not provide enough information, the zookeepers can also satisfy the young zoo visitors' curiosity. The large playground with a giant slide and a lot of other playground equipment provides enough room to let off steam. Benches with tables to rest and eat a snack are distributed around the entire zoo. The "Little Eagle Adler", a miniature train based on Germany's first train runs from the giraffe enclosure to the Children's Zoo and takes tired children to the exit.

The protection of endangered species in Germany and South America

Today the protection of endangered species and nature is one of the most urgent tasks facing zoos all over the world. Together with Yaku Pacha, an organization founded in the Nuremberg Zoo to protect aquatic mammals of South America, the zoo also supports the protection of threatened dolphin species in countries such as Chile, Brazil and Uruguay. The zoo also participates in more than 30 European "Preservation of Endangered Species Programs" (EEPs) and coordinates the EEPs for manatees and Malayan tapirs. The zoo is also involved with many programs for animal resettlement.

31 PLAYMOBIL-FunPark Play – Move – Experience

There are numerous large-scale PLAYMOBIL play worlds and unlimited climbing fun on a total space of 90,000 sqm. Here big and small explorers can let their fantasy run wild and even board the pirate ship as a buccaneer, scale the castle as a brave knight, milk cows on the farm or as a dinosaur researcher and gold-seeker thrive on a great deal of adventure.

On the go-kart circuit next to the big police station all up-and-coming policemen and women can join in on a thrilling car chase after criminals. In this unique active playground children can energetically explore everything themselves. "Do it yourself" is also the order of the day in the extensive sand and water play areas.

And if the weather isn't at its best, visitors can keep on playing in the glass HOB-Center. The huge PLAYMOBIL entertainment city and the indoor climbing garden offer exciting moments even in bad weather. The FunPark action team offers a rich variety of interactive activities, such as the popular minidisco. In the PLAYMOBIL-FunPark the action just never stops!

Turn off reality. Turn on the adventure mode! Thanks to virtual reality what just felt like a completely normal family roller coaster turns into a breath-taking adventure flight. "The Enchanted Valley" recently opened its gates for the first time. The redesigned theme area includes, among others, the big drop tower "Ritterschlag" and the swing ride "Hexentanz".

The Schloss Thurn Discovery Park in Heroldsbach (between Bamberg and Forchheim) has been running for over 40 years and offers numerous attractions for children and adults.

Christkindlesmarkt

"The Christkind invites you to its market and all who come are truly welcome!"

Not only children's eyes sparkle when the Nuremberg Christmas Market is opened with these words and visitors as well as locals get into the Christmas spirit. Immerse yourself in the distinctive atmosphere when the "Little Town of Wood and Cloth" is ablaze with thousands of lights and the seductive aroma of gingerbread, grilled sausages and mulled wine is in the air. Let yourself be enchanted and experience with all your senses the special feeling of the original Nuremberg Christkindlesmarkt.

1 Imperial Castle

The Imperial Castle was one of the most important fortified imperial palaces of the Holy Roman Empire. For centuries it stood at the center of European history, was a secure military outpost and prestigious accommodation for the emperors. Erected under the Staufers and their successors over older buildings, the extensive castle complex is world famous as the landmark of Nuremberg.

Emperor - Empire - City

The exhibition "Emperor - Empire - City" with a tour through the historic rooms of the imperial castle was redesigned in 2013. In the spectacular new presentation not only the existence and function of the imperial castle are clearly explained and illustrated, but also information on the Holy Roman Empire of the German Nation and the role of Nuremberg in the late Middle Ages is conveyed to visitors, big and small, in a fascinating and stimulating manner. Valuable objects on loan, impressively staged in their authentic location, enable visitors to experience Nuremberg's Golden Age and the castle's unique history from the Middle Ages to the nineteenth century. The varied tour leads from the Knights' Hall through the Double Chapel up to the upper level of the Palas and from there to the weapons collection of the Germanisches Nationalmuseum in the Imperial Castle Museum.

Double Chapel and Palas

In art historical terms the Romanesque Imperial Chapel is the most important section of the Imperial Castle. It was built around 1200 in conjunction with the Palas. This includes a hall building with two halls lying one above the other as well as a residential wing with several chambers. The Palas and Double Chapel were skillfully adapted to the irregular rock relief.

Characteristic of double chapels are two chapels with an identical ground plan lying one above the other, which can be linked with each other through an opening in the center. The ruler's balcony - a specialty of the Nuremberg Double Chapel - allowed the emperor direct access from the upper hall and the imperial chambers of the Palas and at the same time a certain distance from the royal court. A heatable oratory was built for Emperor Charles V in 1520.

Sinwell Tower and Deep Well

The Sinwell Tower - a round tower in the outer bailey visible from a long distance - was a keep, serving both defensive and prestige purposes. Built in the late 13th century, the slender tower received another floor in the 1560s, with an observation platform crowned by a Renaissance spire. The view of the castle and the Old Town supported by photos from the time before and after World War II makes one aware of the relationship between destruction and reconstruction. The Deep Well at the center of the outer bailey was very probably built in its earliest construction phase to provide an autonomous water supply for the castle. Its shaft was driven almost 50 m into the rock below, a depth which can be appreciated by a camera lowered into it during a vivid guided tour.

1 Imperial Castle Museum

The Imperial Castle Museum, a branch of the Germanisches Nationalmuseum, shows the historical role and the changing tasks of the Nuremberg Imperial Castle. In the earlier residential building excavation finds, ornamental architectural elements, models and reconstruction sketches illustrate the history of this important site. The castle was not only a defensive complex, but also served research activities. In 1677, for instance, Eimmart built an observatory on the Vestner Gate bastion which became world renowned for its accuracy of measurement. It owed its precision to its astronomical clock, a shining example of contemporary science.

Exhibition

The collection of historical defensive and offensive weapons, such as body armor, firearms and pole weapons, shields and other accessories, demonstrates how the art of warfare changed throughout the centuries. The exhibition includes ceremonial and tournament armor as testimony to the medieval art of the armorer, crossbows used for hunting and sport and inventively shaped pole weapons of the foot soldiers and landsknechts or mercenaries. Firearms began to dominate the battlefields from the 16th century onwards. Historical saddles, stirrups, snaffles (bits for bridles) and spurs make reference to the important role of the horse in terms of military use as well as in tournaments and travelling.

2 Albrecht Dürer's House

Albrecht Dürer's House presents in a new concept the living and working quarters of one of the most famous painters and graphic artists in art history, namely Albrecht Dürer (1471–1528).

The Building

The massive half-timbered house – built in 1420 – was lived in by Dürer from 1509 to 1528. Here you can view an undestroyed burgher's residence from Nuremberg's Golden Age, which is at the same time one of the few surviving 16th century artist's houses in Northern Europe. It contains reconstructed living areas and kitchens as well as a large workshop with functioning printing equipment. The rooms today convey an authentic atmosphere and reflect the history of the house as the first northern European artist's museum since 1828.

The Dürer Hall

Valuable copies of Dürer paintings are presented in the Dürer Hall. In the Cabinet of Prints and Drawings special exhibitions will display treasures from the large number of holdings in the Nuremberg Municipal Museums. And finally, Agnes Dürer, his wife, takes you on special tours personally through the master's house – of course, in the guise of an actress.

3 Germanisches Nationalmuseum

The Germanisches Nationalmuseum is the largest museum in the German-speaking world dedicated to cultural history and one of the most important museums in the world.

You can spend an hour or an entire day here. Let yourself become fascinated by the stories surrounding the original artworks. We offer free tours to the museum's highlights every day.

Among the highlights are works by Albrecht Dürer, Lucas Cranach or Rembrandt, sculptures by Veit Stoß, the famous Behaim Globe, the oldest surviving globe in the world, the precious cover of the Codex Aureus, very rare Baroque dollhouses with several floors and one of the largest collections of historic musical instruments in Europe.

Whether it is a bronze-age cult object, medieval tapestries or aesthetically pleasing design classics of the 20th century: Exhibits covering more than 3,000 years offer exciting insights into the incredibly varied and rich history of our art and culture.

4 Neues Museum State Museum for Art and Design in Nuremberg

The New Museum with its curved glass facade rises over the medieval city walls in the heart of Nuremberg. The handsome museum has received many awards for its striking modern architecture and is a venue for contemporary art and design.

The art collection contains painting, sculpture and photography from 1945 to the present. Its main focus includes Eastern European artists, international works of geometric abstraction and concrete art. An impressive ensemble with works by Gerhard Richter during his various creative periods is also displayed.

In the area of design there is a cooperation with the New Collection - The Design Museum, one of the internationally leading museums for 20th century applied art.

The balanced presence of contemporary art and design in one museum is quite unique. Several exhibitions a year, continually changing presentations of the collections and a wide range of tours and events offer a diversity of inspiration and invite visitors to join in the communication process.

5 Museum Tucher Mansion and the Hirsvogel Hall

In the Tucher Mansion, built from 1533 - 44, the domestic world of a prominent 16th century merchant family comes to life again. The collection, even today still owned by the Tucher patrician family, displays valuable furniture, tapestries, paintings and precious decorative art works.

The picturesque Renaissance garden invites you to picnic there on Sundays and offers a splendid view of the magnificent Hirsvogel Hall (originally built 1534, destroyed 1945, reconstructed 2000). With the exquisite wall paneling by Peter Flötner and the famous painted ceiling by Georg Pencz, a pupil of Dürer, it ranks as one of Germany's loveliest Renaissance interiors.

Twelve newly created plaster of paris busts of the first Roman emperors - the original Renaissance sculptures have been lost since the post-war period - complete the interior ensemble.

Every Sunday an actress assumes the role of the former lady of the house, Katharina Tucher, and gives a tour of the mansion and the Hirsvogel Hall and entices you to explore the historical secrets of the Tucher Mansion.

We would be happy to inform you about our room hiring terms for the premises.

10 City Museum at Fembo House

Merchant's House, Patrician's Palatial Residence, Map Publishers, Museum - The Fembo House built between 1591 and 1596 at the foot of the Imperial Castle is many-faceted.

The Building

The only large late Renaissance merchant's house that has survived in Nuremberg has been serving as a municipal museum since 1953 and today invites you to embark on a fascinating journey through Nuremberg's magnificent history. Important stations over 1,000 years of eventful historical developments are brought to life by splendid original rooms, room installations and many precious objects: from the first documentary mention of Nuremberg in 1050 up to the 21st century.

Permanent Exhibition

In the new exhibition hall "A Crown - Power - History" with high-quality copies of the imperial regalia a compact media guide takes you through the most important chapters of the city's history in around 30 minutes. A more detailed tour begins in the 4th upper story with the large wooden model of the Old Town. Visitors then pass through 26 rooms of the house and discover the diverse, ever more intriguing development of a large town. The exhibition forum with its changing presentations is the showcase for Nuremberg's history, art and culture.

6 Documentation Center Nazi Party Rally Grounds

The National Socialists made Nuremberg the “City of the Nazi Party Rallies”. The north wing of the unfinished Congress Hall on the former Nazi Rally Grounds, designed by the National Socialists to accommodate 50,000 people, is now occupied by the Documentation Center Nazi Party Rally Grounds.

The permanent exhibition “Fascination and Terror” deals with the causes, contexts and consequences of the National Socialist tyranny within an exhibition space of 1,300 m². The focus of the 19 chronologically arranged exhibition areas is the history of the Nazi Party Rallies, which were used by NS propaganda as mass gatherings for staging the “national community”.

The exhibition continues outside, with large panels providing supplementary information on the history of each venue along the Nazi Party Rally Grounds, which today still cover approximately 4 km².

Regular special exhibitions are held in the Documentation Center Nazi Party Rally Grounds. The Educational Forum offers numerous study programs for school classes and youth groups as well as adult groups, providing in-depth insights into various topics of special interest.

7 Memorium Nuremberg Trials

In the criminal court of the Nuremberg Palace of Justice world history was written: On November 20, 1945 the trial against the “main war criminals” began in the criminal court, “Courtroom 600”. 21 leading representatives of the National Socialist regime were made to answer for their crimes against peace and humanity. In October 1946, 11 months later, the sentences were pronounced. From 1946 to 1949 twelve Subsequent Proceedings were held before American military tribunals.

More than 60 years after the trials a permanent exhibition has been opened at the original site to provide relevant information on the background, proceedings and consequences: Explanations are given on the role of the defendants in the National Socialist power structure and the crimes they were accused of. Historic sound and film footage convey a vivid impression of the trials. The significance of the trials for the development of modern international criminal law made “Courtroom 600” world famous.

The “Nuremberg Principles” ensuing from the International Military Tribunal today form the basis for the International Criminal Court in The Hague. They illustrate how attitudes have changed since 1945 / 46 towards those responsible for the fortunes of the world’s nations and peoples.

The Museum for Communication focuses on people and the way they communicate - from the first attempts of a child to speak to Web 2.0. The exhibition is divided up into four areas of communication: sound, images and writing as well as communication via the Internet. Over 400 objects from the telephony exchange to the iPad as well as many media stations make the contents come alive. Interactive elements invite children and adults to communicate, whether in the writing workshop, at the pneumatic postal tubes or as the moderator in a TV studio. In the reconstructed burial chamber of the Ancient Egyptian craftsman Sennedjem the connection between writing and the Cult of the Dead is clearly illustrated. One of the core themes is in the area of "Network Worlds", where the focus is on communication with digital media. Today in Web 2.0 we are both users and designers in a networked world without boundaries. The house belongs to the Museum Foundation Post and Telecommunication sponsored by the Deutsche Post AG and Deutsche Telekom AG. Changing exhibitions on communications and a diverse program of events from the Language Party to the museum mail coach tour through Knoblauchland (a market garden area north of Nuremberg) and Fürth round off the offerings. In the fall of 2017 an exhibition will be dedicated to the topic Instagram photography. Digital photos of city impressions from Nuremberg and Berlin will be printed on photographic paper and presented analog in the museum. All topics and dates under www.mfk-nuernberg.de.

8 DB Railway Museum

Founded as early as 1882 today's DB Museum is the oldest railway museum in the world. Under the umbrella of the German Railway Foundation, the history of the German railway throughout all epochs is kept alive. Around 200,000 guests visit the main museum in Nuremberg as well as the two branch offices in Koblenz and Halle an der Saale each year.

The core of the Nuremberg museum tells the history of the railway in Germany on 6,600 m² of exhibition space. Various narrative strands report on the social, cultural and economic developments and also provide prospects for the future. Crowd pullers are the original vehicles. About 40 rail legends await visitors in two halls. In addition there are 15,000 m² of open-air exhibition grounds and an open storage area with treasures from the museum's collection.

The Modellarium displays over 2,000 models, from historical vehicles built to a scale of 1:5 up to an engine in a miniature format of 1:700. The famous steam locomotive the Adler (Eagle) is revived as a digital model. Younger visitors should not miss the Kid's Trainland (KIBALA). It offers everything to make a child's heart leap for joy: Many hands-on stations and the KIBALA Express invite everyone to play and learn.

Along with exciting exhibition areas and the varied special exhibitions the DB Museum also offers a diverse program for families and children, for the culturally aware as well as for train enthusiasts.

9 Toy Museum

Ever since the Middle Ages Nuremberg has been a city of toys. Today, the world-famous Toy Museum with its wealth of exceptional exhibits breathes new life into this great historic tradition over 1,400 m² of exhibition space.

Wooden toys, dolls, exquisite doll's houses and optical games offer an insight into the living environment of past centuries.

The worldwide most important collection of Lehmann tin toys is the focus of a museum section depicting the history of the company. Cars, trains and steam engines are testimony to the outstanding role the Nuremberg toy manufacturer played in the area of technology.

Friends of more modern toys like Lego, Barbie, Playmobil or Matchbox cars will also get their money's worth. In an imaginatively designed and pedagogically supervised children's area, the small visitors can play to their heart's content.

Also enticing during the summer are a large outside play area and the museum café in the secluded inner courtyard. Exciting children's birthday programs can be individually booked all year long.

A building constructed as a screw factory during the 1920s now houses the Museum for Industrial Culture, the Motorcycle Museum "Ardie, Mars & Co." and the School Museum with a historical classroom on 6,000 m² of exhibition space.

Here everything revolves around the history of the industrialization of Nuremberg from the 19th century to the structural changes of the present. The work and everyday life in the past come to life along a "museum street". The exhibits, including a "Technology Revue", a fully functioning museum cinema, or the "talking kitchen", turn into actors and visitors become explorers.

In the motorcycle collection the golden age of Nuremberg as a stronghold of bicycle manufacturing production comes alive.

Young and old visitors can get to know the museum during entertaining tours, during the exciting demonstrations at the historical pencil workshop or by participating in the lead typesetting workshop. In "Math Land" children from 4-8 years of age are playfully introduced to the subject of mathematics. In 2017 the Learning Lab "Technology Land" will also open its doors again. Here technical phenomena will be illustrated in a playful fashion.

Moreover, a media guide promises to offer museum insights with the modern art of technology.

13 ArtCultureQuarter

The ArtCultureQuarter offers its visitors programs in the areas of music, dance, theater, literature and film in seven different institutions. Exhibitions of contemporary international and regional art and photography can be found in the Gallery of Contemporary Art Nuremberg, in the Art Gallery and the Art Villa. Music events in the Artists' House and international cinema in the Film House round off the spectrum. The diverse program is complemented by music, dance and theater in the Tafelhalle as well as the festival venue St. Catherine's. Along with lectures, events for senior citizens and children, those who are interested can also take the opportunity to be creative in the open workshops. The in-house gastronomy provides food and drink.

In the Cultural Information Office tips for leisure activities as well as admission tickets for a large number of events taking place in Greater Nuremberg can be acquired.

13 Art Gallery in the ArtCultureQuarter

As an exhibition house for contemporary visual art, photography and a critically reflected analysis of society the Art Gallery has been a fixed component in the Artists' House for over 10 years. With its four exhibitions per year it has established itself as an important platform for current regional, national and international art. The Art Gallery sees itself as a dynamic place in which many-faceted exhibitions and projections can be institutionally developed and in some cases also realized in exhibition cooperations. A lively exchange between those creating art amongst themselves as well as their public is promoted and continually built on and expanded.

14 Gallery of Contemporary Art Nuremberg in the ArtCultureQuarter

The Gallery of Contemporary Art has been located since 1967 near the city wall very close to the main train station in a building which was established as a presentation site for exhibitions as early as 1913. Founded as a house for German and international contemporary art, the exhibition program of the Gallery has long evolved into an important platform for presenting contemporary art. Along with influential individual artistic positions the focus is on theme-based group exhibitions as well as seminal art developments since the 1960s. Owing to renovation work the Gallery of Contemporary Art Nuremberg will be closed from March 2018 until tentatively March 2019.

15 The Art Villa in the ArtCultureQuarter

Themed as well as monographic exhibitions on regional 20th and 21st century art are displayed in the Art Villa. The key focus is to reappraise regional art history as of 1900 as well as to present the contemporary art scene. Not only works from its own collections, but also loans from private lenders and from partner institutions are exhibited. Furthermore, the Art Villa in cooperation with the Art Education Center of the Museums in Nuremberg (KPZ) offers a many-faceted and varied program for children, young people and adults.

38 Cadolzburg Castle – The new highlight in the Nuremberg Metro- politan Region

A mighty castle – setting for the glorious history of a ruling family that went a long way: This is Cadolzburg, seat of the Hohenzollerns who from Franconia also ruled over Brandenburg and who later became Prussian kings and even German Emperors.

But how did the Hohenzollerns govern, sleep and fight 600 years ago? What did the Middle Ages smell and sound like? What was it like living in the castle? Find out about this and much more besides in the new “Hands-on-Castle-Experience” designed by the Bavarian Palace Department. Try it out for yourselves: at Cadolzburg Castle the Middle Ages come to life with exhibits to touch, listen to, smell and much more. You can expect something really special – it’s simply the CASTLE THAT’S GREAT FOR YOUNG AND OLD!

The “Faber-Castell Experience” includes three interesting visitors’ programs at the location in Stein: The Faber-Castell Castle, the production of the wooden pencils and the Museum “Alte Mine”.

A tour through the Faber-Castell Castle, which has been extensively restored in the last few years, makes the link between an industrial progressive spirit and traditional family values quite tangible. The Art Nouveau residence offers beautiful rooms and an interesting insight into their lifestyle at the turn of the century.

The centerpiece of the company, the production of black lead pencils and colored pencils, comes alive in a two-hour tour. Approximately 500,000 wooden pencils are produced here every day. Just how this works – from wooden board to finished pencil – is explained in a lively and fascinating fashion.

With a great love of detail the historical rooms of the lead pencil production were converted into a lively testimony to its industrial heritage. In the Museum “Alte Mine”, in the graphite-blackened original historic premises on the banks of the Rednitz River, the visitor gains an insight into the once complicated process of manufacturing lead pencils in the 19th and 20th centuries.

wbg Nürnberg GmbH

Along with the numerous cultural, historical and shopping opportunities the citizens of Nuremberg associate something else with their city: the excellent quality of life. The wbg Nürnberg GmbH helps contribute to this.

The wbg Nürnberg GmbH, the largest provider of quality real estate in the metropolitan region, manages 20,000 rented properties. It offers various housing concepts for various needs. From housing space for the young family to the senior citizen's apartment.

The group of companies also knows, however, that people's surroundings contribute considerably to their quality of life. The company's motto is "Design Habitats" and it supports cultural institutions such as the museen der stadt nürnberg (the city museums of Nuremberg), thus promoting a holistic sense of well-being in the city. Hence, for example, the wbg Nürnberg GmbH sponsors a welcome gift of a pre-paid admission ticket to the City Museum at Fembo House for every new resident of Nuremberg.

19 Natural History Museum

A truly multi-faceted museum covering the following areas:

Ethnology of the South Pacific, Siberia, the Sahara and West Africa, the archaeology of Jordan and Costa Rica, geology (incl. Germany's largest iron meteorite as well as the Plateosaurus), natural history, the study of caves and karst features, and the pre-history of the region.

23 Horological Collection Karl Gebhardt

With ca. 1,000 objects on display out of a total of ca. 1,450, this collection ranks as one of the best of its kind in Europe. It impressively documents the development of portable timepieces from Peter Henlein's so-called "pocket watch", which ran for 40 hours after winding, right down to the radio-controlled solar clock of today. It also showcases mechanical and electronic timepieces, from 1890 to 2000 with and without striking mechanisms.

20 Hangman's Residence Museum

Situated directly over the river the former official living quarters of the hangman of the free imperial city of Nuremberg offer fascinating views. The exhibition in the hangman's rooms deals with criminal history in Nuremberg.

It tells of the office of the hangman and Franz Schmidt, the most famous hangman in the city. His official diary provides deep insights into everyday life in the free imperial city of Nuremberg around 1600.

The recently renovated Fire Brigade Museum in the attic of Fire Station #3 on Jakobsplatz is small but special. To be seen on ca. 250 m² of exhibition space are an originally preserved 15th c. wooden pump, fire extinguishers, manual fire pumps, nozzles as well as on-duty uniforms worn since 1875, and much more.

28 Peace Museum

The Peace Museum documents the history of pacifism in Germany over the last 100 years, and the activities of the peace movement in Nuremberg since 1945. Methods and forms of action in the peace movement are shown and encourage visitors to critically examine the topics of peace and non-violence. Changing exhibitions discuss current as well as historical contexts.

37 BMF-Museum

Bavarian Hardware Museum

The company history of BMF is presented on over 250 m². Product designs, company catalogs and numerous historical products remind visitors of the significance of BMF. Opened in 2011 the museum presents a private Classic Car collection. The exhibition covers ca. 90 vehicles, including motorcycles - all of them from former Nuremberg production lines. Along with the automobiles there are also other small exhibitions that make the spirit of past eras come alive again, e.g. old radios, a 1950s kitchen, Triumph typewriters, and much more.

25 Brömme Hat Museum

Learn about the history of the hat maker's craft. The Brömme Hat Museum shows you how hats are made. You can produce your own hat out of the materials at hand (hat bodies, hat trimmings, feathers and jewelry). The conformateur measures your individual head shape and width and the formillion translates the conformateur image into the full size head mold. You will enjoy the "orthopedic hat".

Museums in Fürth

The City Museum impressively presents the development of the city in its permanent exhibition as well as in changing special exhibitions. The focus is on Fürth's social and economic history.

The Jewish Museum of Franconia provides an insight into the history of the Jewish community, which had a defining influence on Fürth and Germany's largest Radio Museum displays in vivid fashion the development of radio and TV.

And perhaps take a look at the small museums on the topics of criminal history and international women's culture. Not forgetting the "small is beautiful" art gallery Fürth.

Let yourself be surprised.

39 City Museum Fürth

Take a journey through time at Fürth's city museum and discover the fascinating history of the cloverleaf city. On over 1,000 m² you can trace the development from a small market town to a modern city, from a town with many craftsmen to an industrial city. Documents, maps, photos, media and "guess-the-scent" stations bring to life a dynamic history. In addition there are guided tours, special exhibitions, cultural events and interactive activities.

Always up-to-date exhibits can be found under www.stadtmuseum-fuerth.de

40 Radio Museum Fürth

In the family-friendly Radio Museum Fürth there is something to discover for all generations. Grandparents see the radio sets of their childhood again, parents discover the record player or small television, which they saved up for for ages, and children learn that a radio existed well before the Internet radio. Moreover, an exciting, age-appropriate museum rally invites you to explore the various exhibits. At the end of your visit you can sit in the 1950s-style museum café and exchange experiences and memories - with a cup of coffee and a scrumptious cake or a cool shandy.

41 Jewish Museum of Franconia, Fürth

Is ham kosher? Can women become rabbis? And what is actually a ritual bath? Visit the Jewish Museum of Franconia in Fürth and learn more about Jewish life in Franconia. From the Middle Ages up to the 19th century Jewish communities existed in well over 300 locations. The museum itself is found in a formerly Jewish 17th century residence. Magnificent stucco ceilings, a sukkah and a ritual bath are unique evidence of this period. Precious ritual objects and impressive everyday objects testify to the rich traditions of Franconia's Jewish culture. In May/June 2018 the museum will be opening an extension and will then regularly display large changing exhibitions. The opening date can be found under www.juedisches-museum.org

PLAYMOBIL "Martin Luther"

In conjunction with the German National Tourist Board and PLAYMOBIL the Nuremberg Convention and Tourist Office developed a Reformation ambassador in mini-format: Martin Luther as a character figure. "Small Luther" in a coat and cap, holding a Bible and a quill, as the ambassador for the Reformation Year 2017, is now already underway.

PLAYMOBIL "Albrecht Dürer"

In 2012 during the Year of Art and the exhibition "The Early Dürer" PLAYMOBIL in cooperation with the Nuremberg Convention and Tourist Office developed the "Small Albrecht Dürer". The figure clothed in a Renaissance outfit is accessorized with a brush, palette, easel and the world-famous self-portrait.

Barrier-Free Nuremberg

Nuremberg and its diverse museum landscape have a lot to offer – for people with disabilities, too. Under the motto “Touch-Feel-Listen”, art and culture can be discovered under the guidance of specially trained educators in the museums but also on the streets and squares of the Old Town.

Group programs for the disabled by the KPZ (Art Education Center of the Museums in Nuremberg)

With great commitment and specialized knowledge the KPZ has developed tours, workshops and events for the blind, visually impaired, hard-of-hearing and deaf, for people with so-called mental disabilities as well as wheelchair users of every age group. More detailed information can be found under www.kpz-nuernberg.de

Information for wheelchair users:

A regular tour suitable for wheelchair users takes place every first Sunday in the month at 1.30 pm, starting at the Tourist Information Office on the main market square. (Duration ca. 2 hours.)

City tours for the hearing impaired:

“Speak with your hands” – under this motto trained and qualified city guides using German sign language offer walking tours through the Old Town of Nuremberg in cooperation with the City Association for the Deaf in Nuremberg.

City tours for the mentally disabled can be booked at the Congress- und Tourismus-Zentrale Nürnberg.

Geschichte Für Alle also offers tours:

The Middle Ages are explained as a first hand experience under the title “That’s what it was like at the Imperial Castle...”. During the visit there is the opportunity to slip into the dress of a noble woman, to listen to the clip-clop of horses’ hooves, to smell the spices used for the famous Nuremberg gingerbread and much much more.

Programs for individual blind and visually impaired visitors:

The City Museum at Fembo House offers individual blind and visually impaired visitors and their sighted escorts a very exciting visit to the museum under the motto “He who cannot see may touch”. A guidebook, which can also be downloaded in advance from the website museen.nuernberg.de/fembohaus provides information on which objects may be touched and handled in the various rooms, where something may be listened to or experimented with. A selection of objects in the rooms or showcases that are inaccessible for hands, such as a coat of mail or pots and pans from the old Nuremberg kitchen, have been especially assembled in a suitcase for blind visitors, which is available for the duration of the tour.

1 Nuremberg Zoo

Take a discovery tour in a unique landscape of the Nuremberg Zoo. Wander through a park set in a forest with spacious animal enclosures, fissured rock formations centuries-old trees, large ponds and sunlit open spaces. Gaze in amazement at the leaping dolphins in the open-air dolphin lagoon or the gently gliding sea cows in the manatee house. Of course, there are many other animals: polar bears, lions, zebras, rhinoceroses.... Altogether the zoo is home to almost 300 species of animals. Enjoy nature in the heart of the city, every day of the year.

Keeping visitors in mind

Along with an impressive animal world, visitors can look forward to a wide range of places to eat. You can also borrow a handcart to carry your own provisions. Visitors who arrive by bus or train pay the reduced admission fee. There are about 2,000 free parking spaces for cars directly at the entrance.

Tiergartenrestaurant Waldschänke

We naturally have organic and MSC certifications and are members of the Biokreis Organic Circle and partners of the Bioland organic farmers' association. We cook nutritional food in every price range and for every religious denomination! Every Saturday evening we work magic with our fine Venetian Nuremberg cuisine and conjure up a feast for our Culinary Theater in the Zoo "species-appropriate", of course! Our rooms have "listed" status, so do we! We can cater for any event! On our own premises or in the Blue Salon.

6 Observatory

For over 80 years the observatory has stood at the Rechenberg. It has various equipment for bringing the starlit sky down to the level of the visitors. With the aid of models, films and computer simulations, astronomical and physical processes in the universe are explained.

On the terrace, in good weather, celestial objects are observed through several telescopes. In the Observatory's dome stands the large telescope, which is normally reserved for research purposes.

The World War II Art Bunker - unique in Germany. Air-raid shelter for artworks, the destruction and rebuilding of Nuremberg

Deep down under Castle Hill the most important Nuremberg art treasures survived the many air raids of World War II.

Shortly after the outbreak of the war a unique bunker system was built to protect these artworks from destruction and plundering.

In contrast, however, many historic buildings in the old medieval town suffered severe damage. "The Treasure Chest of the German Nation" had become a city of ruins.

How this city of ruins gradually grew into the present-day Nuremberg - that, too, you will discover in a tour of the bunkers whose basic form has survived.

Art treasures stored in the bunker

2a Casemates and Water Supply Conduits

Since 1545 the imposing bastions of the master builder Antonio Fazuni have risen from the dry moat behind the castle - even today a prime example of Renaissance fortification construction in Germany.

From the casemates another set of stairs leads down to the medieval rock-cut cellars containing the water supply conduits. The impressive, once secret water channels were used well into the 20th c.

Within the bastions steep steps lead down into the defense passageways of the Imperial Castle, the casemates with their embrasures for shooting weapons from. From inside the fortification wall one can still look out through a few of these embrasures today and imagine how the Nuremberg militia of the past fired upon their attackers.

Historic Rock-Cut Cellars

2 Historic Rock-Cut Cellars

An extensive labyrinth of subterranean passageways and cellar vaults has existed in the bedrock of castle hill for centuries – the Historic Rock-Cut Cellars.

As early as 1380 Nuremberg's traditional beer was stored in the subterranean cellars, sometimes comprising four levels, that had been cut into the typical Nuremberg sandstone. Later they were used to store food supplies. During World War II the historical underground vaults served as air raid shelters.

Follow us into the Nuremberg rock-cut cellars, a fascinating labyrinth made up of a myriad of widely branching tunnels and cellars, which were hewn out of the rock face many centuries ago. During a tour, you can discover this unique subterranean cellar system and learn interesting facts about the laws and regulations in the cellars. You will also learn something about the various uses of these cellars over the last 700 years and the craft of brewing beer in the Altstadtthof brewpub.

Albrecht Dürer Monument

First monument in Germany dedicated to honor an artist.

Tiergärtnertor Square

While the bastions were being constructed in the mid-16th c. a new gate was built and the old pointed arch walled off. Today the square is a popular meeting place for young and old on warm summer evenings.

Medieval Dungeons

3 Town Hall of Nuremberg

The Town Hall is a complex of several construction periods. The oldest section is the 40 m Gothic hall erected between 1332 and 1340, once the largest secular hall construction north of the Alps. The adjacent section built from 1616 to 1622 by Jakob Wolff the Younger was modeled on the Italian palazzos of the High Renaissance. In 1945 the entire complex was destroyed by bombs. Reconstruction 1956 – 1962.

3 Medieval Dungeons

The dungeons are found in the cellar vaults of the Old Town Hall. They were set up in the 14th c. to serve as cells for prisoners awaiting trial or in custody until their execution.

The dungeons can be viewed only during a ca. 30 min. tour.

Neptune Fountain

13 Beautiful Fountain

Built ca. 1385–1396 by construction supervisor and stonemason Heinrich Beheim. The 19 m tall stone pyramid rises from the octagonal basin like a Gothic church spire, tapering in three stages to the finial. Four rows of 40 stone figures represent the world-view of the Holy Roman Empire. The railing with the famous brass ring that can be turned, and has been replaced several times, was made in 1587.

Gooseherd Fountain

It displays a cast bronze statue of a peasant from the Knoblauchsland market gardening area wearing 16th c. clothing and holding a goose under each arm.

14 Marriage Merry-Go-Round Fountain

The “Marriage-Merry-Go-Round” was erected directly in front of the White Tower in 1984. The work, created by Jürgen Weber, relates to the poem “Bitter-Sweet Married Life” by Hans Sachs, who in drastic words described marriage from the first stages of ardent love leading to exhausting marital rows right through to the deathbed.

Neptune Fountain

A restored cast of the fountain stands in the Municipal Park.

Fountain of Virtues

The virtues of faith, hope, charity, courage, temperance and patience are represented in figures.

Tallow Square (Unschlittplatz)

One of the few historical ensembles of houses that survived the bombs of WW II.

Former Wine Depot / Hangman's Bridge

Former Customs House

1498–1502 first built as a grain and salt storehouse; from 1572 imperial city weigh house and customs house. 1897/98 conversion to commercial shops and offices.

Nassau House

One of the best preserved examples of a medieval residential tower (for the nobility).

Hospital of the Holy Spirit

Established from 1332 to 1339 as a foundation endowed by the wealthy patrician Konrad Groß (“Imperial Mayor”) for the elderly and needy. Considered the largest private endowment by any individual before 1500.

Chained Suspension Bridge

For centuries pedestrians crossed the Pegnitz River on a wooden bridge located in front of the current one. The first iron suspension bridge on the European continent was built here in 1824.

Hangman's Bridge

Constructed as a wooden footbridge in 1457. Between the 16th and the 19th c., the Nuremberg hangman lived in the tower and the roofed-over walkway above the Pegnitz River.

Trödelmarkt

While strolling along the small Pegnitz island past the lovingly restored ensemble of houses it is hard to believe that this was the pig market in the Middle Ages.

Former Wine Depot

One of the largest half-timbered houses in Germany. Previously an infirmary, later a wine depot, today a student dormitory.

7 Church of Our Lady (Rom. Cath.)

1355 / 58 Emperor Charles IV had the synagogue razed (pogrom 1349) and replaced by the first Gothic three-aisled hall church in Franconia, constructed as an imperial royal chapel.

In 1361 the imperial regalia were displayed to the public for the first time for the christening of his son Wenzel, heir to the throne. The “Männleinlaufen” (mechanical clock and glockenspiel, every day at noon) recalls the proclamation of the Golden Bull of 1356: seven Electors pay homage to Emperor Karl IV sitting on his throne. Richly decorated interior. The Tucher altarpiece (ca. 1445) is considered the most important work of panel painting in the pre-Dürer period.

8 St. Lawrence Church (Prot. Luth.)

Building begun about 1250. Originally built as a three-aisled basilica in the high Gothic style; later extended with an imposing late Gothic hall choir (1439 – 1477). Magnificent west facade with splendid portal richly decorated with statuary and rose window (mid-14th c.). Two towers 80 and 81 meters high. Important works of art: the Annunciation by Veit Stoß (1518), tabernacle by Adam Kraft (1496), medieval altars, memorial plaques, stained glass.

9 Ruins of St. Catherine's Church

In the Middle Ages St. Catherine's Church was part of the complex of a Dominican convent. In 1945 the church was gutted by fire and was not reconstructed. In the summer the ruins of St. Catherine's Church are the venue for numerous open air events.

10 St. Sebald Church (Prot. Luth.)

Nuremberg's oldest city parish church was built ca. 1215 as a three-aisled Late Romanesque pillared basilica with two choirs. As early as 1309 the original side aisles were widened and altered in the Gothic style. Destroyed during World War II like the rest of the city, St. Sebald was reconstructed in 1957 and reconsecrated. The reliquary shrine (ca. 1397) in the tomb cast in bronze by Peter Vischer and his sons (1508 – 1519) is prominently located in the interior of the church. The bones of Nuremberg's patron saint Sebaldus are presumed to rest in the silver embossed “casket”.

St. Giles' Church (Prot. Luth.)

The St. Giles' Church, Nuremberg's only remaining Baroque religious building, dates back to the former Schattenkloster (Irish Benedictine monastery) which was erected here around 1140 on the site of a royal estate from the earliest period of settlement in Nuremberg. Today's building was erected between 1711 and 1718.

St. Clare's Church (Rom. Cath.)

The convent building was demolished in 1899, the church partially destroyed during a bomb attack on March 16, 1945. Reconstructed from 1948–1953 and rebuilt in 2007.

St. Elisabeth's Church (Rom. Cath.)

Originally, the St. Elisabeth's Church was part of a former secondary house of the Teutonic Order of the Knights. The humble Gothic chapel was demolished in 1785 and replaced by the mighty Neoclassical building.

St. James' Church (Prot. Luth.)

The quaint Gothic Church of St. James in the southwest part of the Old Town, in the so-called “St. James' Quarter”, was originally the hospice church for the Teutonic Order. Today's building was erected in the mid to late 14th c.

St. Martha's Church (Ref. Prot.)

St. Martha's Church, built in the second half of the 14th c. and today a Reformed Protestant parish church, is known for its notable original stained glass windows. Undamaged in World War II but gutted by fire on June 5, 2014. In rebuilding process.

11 St. John's Cemetery

One of the most important burial sites in Europe. Albrecht Dürer and Veit Stoß are buried here.

12 St. Roch's Cemetery

The Rochus Chapel at the cemetery established in Gostenhof in 1518 displays Late Gothic net vaulting. This indicates that Gothic was still the “official” architectural style in Nuremberg in the early 16th c.

4 The Way of Human Rights

The Way of Human Rights is entered through a stylized triumphal arch from the Kornmarkt and lined by 27, 9-meter-high concrete pillars. Inscribed on each of them and on two ground plaques as well as the integrated cypress oak is an article of the General Declaration of Human Rights in German and another language.

“Obligation to the Past”

The walkthrough work of art flanking the Germanisches Nationalmuseum created by the Israeli artist Dani Karavan not only changed Nuremberg's image but also heightened the entire city's consciousness of its obligation to the past. The Way of Human Rights in Nuremberg uniquely displays the force of momentous ideas.

International Human Rights Award

The award was presented for the first time on September 17, 1995, almost 60 years to the day after the passage of the National Socialist Racial Laws and 50 years after the end of World War II. The biennial award presentation is the culmination of Nuremberg's broadly conceived aim of doing justice to its self-imposed commitment as the “City of Peace and Human Rights”.

Restaurant “Zum Gulden Stern”

Tanners' Lane (Weißgerbergasse)

Historical half-timbered burghers' residences predominate, in testimony to the wealth created by the leatherworking trade.

32 Zirkelschmiedgasse Quarter

Historically the area is as old as the castle; in the mid 11th c. a royal estate stood here. In the Middle Ages comb-makers, gold-beaters, weavers and bell-makers lived here. The narrow streets are characterized by different styles of houses with numerous dormer windows, exposed half-timbered facades and completely renovated houses.

Historic Grilled Sausage Restaurant “Zum Gulden Stern”

The historic Grilled Sausage Restaurant “Zum Gulden Stern” is Nuremberg’s oldest inn still in its original location. Built ca. 1375 and with its first official mention in 1419 it is the last remaining “hot food stall” in the city of Nuremberg. The inn survived the many wars in this area and can be visited at its original site.

15 Craftsmen's Courtyard at Königstor Tower

Behind the massive city walls craftsmen's traditions are still being cultivated in the small workshops. Pewterers, glass cutters, leather workers, gold and silversmiths and a gingerbread-maker offer their wares for sale and let visitors look over their shoulders while they work. The Franconian taverns invite you to enjoy typical Franconian cuisine. In the pre-Christmas period the courtyard is festively adorned.

16 Town Hall of Fürth

The monumental building was constructed 1840 – 1850 from the plans of Friedrich and Eduard Bürklein in the Neoclassical style of the famous architect Friedrich von Gartner. The 52-meter high tower, the landmark of the city, is inspired by the Palazzo Vecchio in Florence. The industrial town grew so quickly that an extension had to be added just 50 years later. The two staircases and the hall are a “must-see”.

17 St. Michael's Church

The Michaelskirche is the oldest edifice in Fürth. The beginnings of this fortified church date back to 1100. As befitted the erstwhile small market town, St. Michael is only a simple, relatively unadorned village church. The tower with the west portal, the choir and the south entrance are from the Gothic period. The interior is 19th c. Neo-Gothic.

18 Market Square “Green Market” with Jugglers Fountain

As Fürth was almost totally destroyed in the Thirty Years' War, the old houses at the Grüner Markt date from the second half of the 17th and from the 18th c. An attraction at the Grüner Markt is the Jugglers Fountain designed by Harro Frey in 2004 with two groups of figures in various poses.

19 Gustavstraße

Gustavstraße was the most important street in the Old Town. Nowadays it is the heart of the pub scene and a popular meeting point, especially in the evening. What is particularly attractive is the Baroque sandstone building of the Grüner Baum Inn, where the Swedish king Gustav Adolf is said to have stayed overnight in 1632. Anyway, it is after him that the street is named.

20 Wilhelm Löhe House

Birthplace of the Protestant theologian; his writings contributed substantially to the distinctive image of the Lutheran Church.

21 Fürther Freiheit

This is where the first locomotive, the Adler, arrived in 1835. Today the historic square is an event venue for large celebrations and markets such as the Fürth St. Michael's Beer Festival or the Christmas Market.

22 Centaur Fountain

The first “art fountain” was designed by Rudolf Maison in 1890 as a monument to the first German railway (1835) and the establishment of the central water supply (1877).

Depicted is the Garden of Eden with a man and a woman, paradisiacal animals, a natural tree and many bubbling water fountains.

City Park

24 Hornschuchpromenade and Königswarterstraße

These two boulevards from the Wilhemine era (period of rapid industrial growth after unification in 1871) are among the most beautiful in Fürth. From 1883 to 1904 grand houses with elaborately decorated sandstone reflecting the social standing of the upper classes were constructed between Luisestraße and Jakobinenstraße.

25 City Park

The City Park is the green lung of the city and is an oasis for taking a leisurely stroll to unwind. After a walk through the monumental gardens, designed by Hans Schiller in 1951 on the occasion of the garden show "Green and Blossom", the Stadtpark Cafe invites you to relax with a cappuccino or a glass of wine.

26 Old Jewish Cemetery

This is where the Jewish community buried its dead from 1607 to 1906. The graves were created for eternity and these last resting places must not be disturbed. Despite acts of desecration during the Nazi period, the cemetery, which covers 20,000 m² and once stood on the edge of town, is to this day one of the most impressive stone testimonies to Jewish life in Fürth. The cemetery is opened only for tours and after inquiry at the Tourist Information Office in Fürth.

Schloss Burgfarnbach

Schloss Burgfarnbach

Fürthermare

27 Schloss Burgfarnbach

The Neoclassical residence in Burgfarnbach was erected between 1830 and 1834 by the Royal Bavarian Building Inspector Leonhard Schmidner, replacing the old, dilapidated moated castle. As it had been built for the families of two counts, Graf Ludwig and Graf Friedrich Pückler-Limburg, it was very long at 20 meters and was one of the largest Neoclassical buildings in southern Germany. The residence belongs to the city of Fürth and is used today as an archive and library. Tours offer unique insights into the history of the local aristocracy and the city. The splendid festive hall with its adjoining rooms can be rented for special events.

28 Fürthermare – Boundless bathing pleasure

The multi-generational baths are enthusiastically enjoyed as a water park, medicinal thermal baths and sauna landscape – includes free access to adjacent sports hall swimming pool and summer pool! Be a bold pirate on the high seas, let yourself drift on gentle waves in the medicinal thermal waters and produce a healthy sweat in the Majorcan flair sauna.

Go to the seaside – discover the future of swimming.

Discover Nuremberg

Become better acquainted with the “Treasure Chest of the German Nation” on an individual basis!

The Association of Nuremberg City Guides competently and interestingly open up the many-faceted history and culture of Nuremberg to visitors and local citizens alike.

The officially qualified city guides have been offering the following for many years

- Tours through the Old Town on various topics
- Tours in 23 languages
- Tours in historic costumes that make history come alive.
- Tours for children and school classes of all ages
- Groups arriving in their own bus can visit the former Nazi Party Rally Grounds and the historic cemeteries as well as the Franconian countryside
- Discover Nuremberg ... without barriers For people with hearing, visual and walking disabilities
- Presentations „Nuremberg in Colorful Pictures“ – A city to Fall in Love With

The current programs for individual visitors as well as groups can be found on our website under: www.nuernberg-tours.de

Tours through Backstreets and Courtyards of the Old Town

Despite considerable damage from the war the Old Town of Nuremberg still managed to retain its historical character. We, the Friends of the Old Town of Nuremberg, have made a considerable contribution towards this. In the 40 years of our existence we have rescued over two dozen listed burgher houses from being reduced to ruins and enhanced the cityscape with our countless projects.

During our tours we show you some of these restored houses and other historic pearls, including their courtyards, back buildings and archeological finds. Naturally we also include on request outstanding public buildings, such as the Imperial Castle, the churches and the Town Hall. Take a tour with us and discover the appealing atmosphere of Nuremberg.

Children look at the city with different eyes. For them we offer special children's tours with trained guides.

Are you looking for a somewhat different city tour? Then explore the Old Town with us on a Segway.

Bus-Video-Tour from the Nazi Party Rally Grounds to the Nuremberg Trials

Geschichte Für Alle e.V. (History for Everyone) and Schielein Reisen offer public bus tours. Unusual insights, historical facts as well as film clips from the period of National Socialism at original locations - Geschichte Für Alle e.V. and Schielein Reisen offer a totally new educational program with moderated and video-supported bus tours from the former Nazi Party Rally Grounds to the Palace of Justice.

The first part of the tour takes place on the former Nazi Party Rally Grounds, where the National Socialists held their elaborate annual propaganda spectacle. The tour provides an account of the use of architecture as a theatrical backdrop to the various events, explains the function of the rallies themselves and the way in which Nuremberg has dealt with its National Socialist legacy. The bus then takes the visitor to the Palace of Justice. Here, after the Second World War, leading political and military figures stood trial before the International Military Tribunal, accused of committing crimes on an unprecedented scale. Numerous historic film clips will be shown during the tour. English commentary provided by local guides.

City Coach Tours Neukam REBA

Outside the city walls you can visit the former Nazi Party Rally Grounds as well as the Court of Justice. You will also visit the historical St. John's Cemetery with graves of famous Nuremberg citizens, including Albrecht Dürer.

A walk through the historic Old Town is quite delightful because of the extraordinarily attractive old Franconian half-timbered houses and the Gothic sandstone facades of the churches and patrician houses. However, the heart of the city is the main market square, where every year in December the world-famous Christkindlesmarkt enchants its visitors.

Ghostly Paths

Fabulous Torchlight Tours

Wander through Nuremberg as you have never seen it before! Follow the storyteller and actor Marco Kirchner in the flicker of the torch to very special sites in Nuremberg's fabled Old Town.

Always suitably historically dressed, you experience here the art of spinning yarns where the stories, sagas and legends along Nuremberg's ghostly paths take on a new life of their own in the true sense of the word. Whether gruesome, criminal, secretive-magical, amorous or ridiculously funny, you can take your pick of twelve tours all year round and there are always things that you won't hear on every street corner. A totally different kind of city tour.

Historic Rock-Cut Cellars & Altstadt Hof Brewery

Adult tours / Regular Tours

An extensive labyrinth of subterranean passageways and cellar vaults has existed in the bedrock of castle hill for centuries - the Historic Rock-Cut Cellars. As early as 1380 Nuremberg's traditional red beer was stored in the subterranean cellars, sometimes comprising four levels, that had been cut into the castle sandstone (the typical Nuremberg sandstone).

During the air raids of World War II many citizens found shelter in these historical vaults. Follow us into the Nuremberg rock-cut cellars, stone corridors, a fascinating labyrinth made up of a myriad of widely branching tunnels and cellars.

During a tour, you can explore this unique subterranean cellar system and learn interesting facts about the laws and regulations in the cellars. You will also learn something about the various uses of these cellars over the last 700 years and the craft of brewing beer in the brewery Altstadt Hof.

Red Beer in Deep Cellars – Tour 700 years of beer history in Nuremberg

The so-called barley law of 1303 marked the beginning of Nuremberg's known beer brewing tradition, a fluctuating history of beer brewing, which had its ups and downs. The tour begins at the Altstadt Hof brewpub with home brewed pale ale. It leads you through a part of the rock-cut cellars with a visit to the Altstadt Hof brewery taking you through a section of the rock-cut cellars and ends with a visit to the Altstadt Hof brewery as well as the whisky distillery. Includes beer tasting of pale lager and Nuremberg red beer, a typical type of beer brewed chiefly in Nuremberg until the 18th century.

A Walk in the Dark (Dunkelführung)

Feel the dark, arouse your senses and discover what once happened down there in the rock corridors.

Nuremberg's Forgotten Spirits (Kellergeister)

The labyrinth of cellars below the Nuremberg castle invites you to get to know the dark and spooky sides of the city. Enjoy a discovery tour with drama and light/sound installation – guaranteed to be slightly ghostly.

Escape Agency - Live Escape Game

The origin of the Escape Games is the virtual computer gaming world. But sitting alone in front of the computer is „so yesterday“. The Escape Agency Nürnberg is bringing this adventure into the real world and is now offering a new and extraordinary recreational experience in Nürnberg – Escape the Room. Together in teams of 2 to 6 players, you will have to gather information, solve tasks and riddles. This demands creativity, logical thinking and team work. Nonetheless, it isn't as easy as it might sound – there is a time limit of 60 minutes and the clock is ticking relentlessly. This recreational experience is also an ideal family activity. Kids from the age of 10 are welcome, as long as they're accompanied by adults.

As of now there are 2 detailed rooms with different game scenarios in German and English:

Bunker Z: A horrible Z-Virus is spreading throughout the worldwide population. Can you prevent this doom?
Room 212b: Do you have what it takes to be a detective? Prove it by solving Mister S's recent case.

Discover the adventure now and experience the thrill and excitement in a completely new way.

Underway with the Nuremberg Lady Nightwatch

“Let history come alive with stories” – this is the motto for these amusing evening tours. Clad in cloak and hat, armed with a horn, lantern and halberd – the Lady Nightwatch leads you through Nürnberg's eventful past.

There's a lot to see and hear – of powerful emperors, rich “peppersack” merchants and clever craftsmen but also double-dealing town councilors, unscrupulous swindlers and dishonorable hangmen...

Further information on tours and programs can be found under www.nachtwaechterin.de

A participant on the Lady Nightwatch:
“Her agreeable way of perceptively and refreshingly narrating hiStories and anecdotes to the listeners impressed me. It was a great experience!”

Stroll and Dine around in Nürnberg

Discover the convivial side of Nürnberg. Combine your visit to the traditional Old Town with meals of typical Franconian specialties in various restaurants.

The amusingly presented anecdotes from the city's history help to spice up the tour. Entertaining and informative certified tour guides take you through Nürnberg.

Last but not least, restaurants steeped in tradition also make sure you enjoy an unforgettable culinary journey through Nürnberg.

A guest after the tour:
“It was really great, the food was delicious and the restaurants definitely worth a visit.”

23 Film House in the ArtCultureQuarter

The Film House in Nuremberg is the top address for sophisticated films: international premieres, foreign language cinema in the original version, silent movies with live music, theme-based series or monographic shows as the focus of the month. Artist talks with international guests, rare film classics, film festivals, children's films and special offers for schools round off the program.

Further Information on the ArtCulture-Quarter, see pp. 36 + 37.

1 Nuremberg State Theater Opera, Theater, Ballet and Concerts

With more than 750 opera, ballet, theater, and concert programs the Nuremberg State Theater is one of the largest theaters in Germany offering several disciplines of the performing arts and is an outstanding feature of cultural life in the city and the metropolitan region. Each season the theater has around 300,000 visitors to the Opera House and the Playhouse as well as to the concerts of the Nuremberg State Philharmonic Orchestra.

The State Theater presents many contemporary works, premieres and first performances in all the disciplines, but also rarer works and classics. They are staged by internationally renowned directors and high-caliber ensembles.

18 Nuremberg Symphony Orchestra – Experience music!

Artistic quality and wide stylistic range – these are the trademarks of the Nuremberg Symphony Orchestra, the most versatile orchestra in Nuremberg. It offers an enormously wide range of music all year round in the most varied venues, including the Meistersinger Hall, the Serenadenhof, Auf AEG and its own concert hall in the Congress Hall and makes music a real experience!

5 Culinary Theater in the Zoo

Hi Stranger!

Every Saturday evening we work magic with our fine Venetian Nuremberg cuisine. We conjure up a feast for our Culinary Theater in the Zoo – “species-appropriate”.

21 years of Culinary Theater amidst our guests. Theater good enough to eat – a sparkling cuvee of wit & esprit, great live music & spice-of-life organic meals.

An excerpt from our program:

- “Warten auf Bordeaux”
- “Vom Rinde verschmäht”
- “In Teufels Küche”
- “Lende gut - Alles gut!”
- “Spiel mir das Lied vom Topf”

Culinary Theater as Event Theater

We will spin-doctor your comedy, your musical. Our rooms are „listed“ and so are we! We can cater for any event – sustainably! On our own premises or in the Blue Salon.

Performance schedule:

on the Internet or by telephone

Meeting point: Entrance to the Zoo 7.30 pm.

8 Theater Pfütze –

where the whole world comes to life

We are located in the heart of Nuremberg's Old Town, in a golden new theater. Over the last 26 years Theater Pfütze and the musical theater discipline jungeMET have also become permanent fixtures in the hearts of many of our audiences. Our pieces tell of challenges and opportunities, of beauty and the joy of life. Our productions open the door to the world of fantasy, leave room for one's own thoughts and feelings and affect big and small. Welcome to Theater Pfütze!

16 Fürth Municipal Theater

One of the most splendid buildings in Fürth is the Municipal Theater built by the famous Viennese architects Helmer and Fellner in Neo-Baroque style in 1902. They achieved a prestigious effect with the “portal arch”, the flanking columns and the architectural sculpture: Reliefs of Mozart and Schiller, busts of Wagner, Beethoven, Goethe and Lessing on the side facades, represent the program of the house, a venue for theater and opera productions.

15 CINECITTA' Multiplex Cinema

CINECITTA' is Germany's largest cinema complex with 23 cinema auditoriums, 5000 m² of foyer space, three restaurants as well as various bar areas and cafés. Since its opening in 1995 over 35 million cineasts have visited the commanding building in the heart of the Old Town of Nuremberg.

Not only the CINEMAGNUM auditorium, Europe's largest 3-D screen (formerly IMAX®), entices cineasts, but also the CINECITTA' Deluxe cinemas with electrically adjustable chairs, over 2 m row spacing and service at your seat make for happy film enthusiasts - cinema has never been so snug!

From the roof terrace of CINECITTA' you have probably the most beautiful view of the Nuremberg castle. Likewise, in summer you can enjoy recent films outdoors in the OPEN AIR KINO. The terrace areas and cafés of CINECITTA' are a popular meeting point, whether before or after going to the cinema, during a noon break or as part of a stroll through the city.

GALERIA Kaufhof

GALERIA KAUFHOF
NÜRNBERG, KÖNIGSTRASSE

Surprising shopping experiences over and over again, trendy brands and a diverse range of merchandise: This is what GALERIA Kaufhof in the Königsstraße has stood for since 1996. The large department store, one of the shopping attractions in the Old Town, has almost 180 brandshops across all departments on a sales area of ca. 15,000 m² - from perfumery, watches/ jewelry to sports articles and household goods.

One of the great strengths of the branch store is its great competence in fashion matters: Current trends, international brands, business outfits as well as elegant formal wear are found in the women's and men's departments.

As a multichannel department store GALERIA Kaufhof offers its customers competent advice and service across all channels. In the unlikely event a desired article should not be available, our employees can order it directly via a tablet from the online shop www.galeria-kaufhof.de. The product will then be delivered to the customer's home or shipped free to GALERIA Kaufhof.

We would be pleased to give you competent advice – in more than 5 languages.

In Word and Deed – For Generations

Nuremberg Sausages

The genuine Nuremberg grilled sausages have been around for over 700 years. As early as 1313 a law specifies that “only the most valuable part of the pig” may be used for the little sausages seasoned with marjoram, which must be 7 to 9 cm long and weigh 20 to 25 g. Endorsed with the status of Protected Geographical Indication (PGI) today the Nuremberg sausages are ranked along with other important international specialties such as Parma ham or Champagne in the top list of European foods.

The Nuremberg sausages are traditionally grilled in the sausage restaurants over a beechwood fire which lends the sausages an additional aroma. Crispy cooked they taste good whether in the quick version of “Three in a Bun” or as six, eight, ten or 12 pieces served on a pewter plate with mustard or horse radish. Typical side dishes are sauerkraut, potato salad or a slice of coarse rye bread. Along with the grilled variation there are also “soused sausages” cooked in a stock consisting of vinegar, onions, wine and seasonings.

A Nuremberg Original

In 2003 the Nuremberg sausage was the first sausage in Europe to be designated a “Protected Geographical Indication” by the EU. This seal confirms that all sausages declared as “Nuremberg Grilled Sausages” must be manufactured within the city limits of Nuremberg according to a specified recipe.

More curious things, recipes, nice-to-know and interesting facts about the Nuremberg sausage can be found under:

Horseradish from the Metropolitan Region of Nuremberg

Almost everywhere in Germany mustard belongs to sausages, but in Franconia, and especially in the metropolitan region of Nuremberg, Original Nuremberg grilled sausages are enjoyed with horseradish, locally known as "Kren". Whether you order 6, 8, 10 or even 12 of these delicious small specialties in one of the typical sausage restaurants, horseradish is a must.

Horseradish is grown in the metropolitan region of Nuremberg. At the firm of Schamel, the oldest horseradish brand in the world, the intensely pungent root is grated - with many a tear in our eyes - and exquisitely refined in the most varied ways.

Naturally grilled sausages with horseradish taste best during your visit to Nuremberg, but are equally good at your home abroad during an enjoyable barbecue with friends.

Historical Bratwurstküche

“Zum Gulden Stern”

The famous Historical Bratwurstküche “Zum Gulden Stern” anno 1419 is the oldest grilled sausage restaurant in the world. It gives you an insight into the late Middle Ages during the time of Albrecht Dürer, who must certainly have once been a guest here. The house at Zirkelschmiedgasse 26 was built in 1375 and first documented in 1419, in a district whose buildings formed the nucleus of the historic Old Town of Nuremberg. The premises, consisting of two buildings, survived all the wars and it is the oldest tavern still standing on the same location in Nuremberg.

Tiergartenrestaurant Waldschänke

Hi Stranger!

We naturally have organic and MSC certifications, probably the only restaurant in Germany, and are members of the Biokreis Organic Circle and partners of the Bioland organic farmers' association. We cook nutritional food to suit every budget and every religious denomination!

Every Saturday evening we work magic with our fine Venetian Nuremberg cuisine. We conjure up a feast for our Culinary Theater in the Zoo - "species-appropriate", naturally! Almost 21 years of Culinary Theater - "hands-on-theater" - amidst our guests. Theater good enough to eat - a sparkling cuvee of wit & esprit, great live music & spice-of-life menus. Our rooms are "listed" and so are we! We can cater for any event- sustainably! On our own premises or in the Blue Salon.

Gutmann am Dutzendteich

In our Franconian-modern Weizenstube we serve our guests Franconian tidbits, all kinds of other delicacies as well as our Gutmann wheat ale specialties. In summer our outdoor area with its rustic beer garden seating and lounge invites you to linger awhile.

In the upper floor our guests enjoy homemade food on the roof terrace with a first-class view of the Dutzendteich lake and the Congress Hall or the Documentation Center. On cool days our wood-burning stove provides a cozy atmosphere.

Our Seerosenstube offers the perfect setting for family celebrations for a max. of 200 guests. Our "Saal" has seating for over 200 people. Company events and conferences can also be carried out thanks to state-of-the-art technology.

Fürth – Enjoy, Relax, Shop

In Fürth, shopping is something special, because quaint little specialty shops still exist here. You'll find them around every corner in Fürth, especially in the Old Town. Everything is displayed with a love of detail and enthusiasm - whether it's sweet treats, artistically decorated pottery, jewelry to buy and make yourself, fun fashions from "recycled" materials or local handmade bags. You'll be surprised by the wonderful gourmet shops for whiskey, wine, coffee, cheese, American bagels or Franconian farm sausage. You may not be able to count them all - there are more than 400 small but fine shops in Fürth - but you can enjoy them on a stroll through the town.

Julius Staudt arts and crafts

We are the leading specialty shop in Greater Nuremberg for arts and crafts, gifts, practical and useful items as well as decorations.
